Part II  Activities and Operational Information

1 Provide a detailed narrative description of all the activities of the organization—past, present, and planned. Do not merely refer to or repeat the language in the organizational document. List each activity separately in the order of importance based on the relative time and other resources devoted to the activity. Indicate the percentage of time for each activity. Each description should include, as a minimum, the following: (a) a detailed description of the activity including its purpose and how each activity furthers your exempt purpose; (b) when the activity was or will be initiated; and (c) where and by whom the activity will be conducted.

The primary activity of SAGA to date has been to provide educational programs in order to improve the understanding of anesthesiologists about the physiology of aging and how these changes influence the delivery of anesthetic medical care. These programs have been and will continue to be in conjunction with SAGA's own annual meeting and the annual meetings of other professional anesthesia societies. For example, at the last annual meeting of SAGA (10/12/01) a talk was presented entitled, "The future is aging: demographic, policy and clinical implications". SAGA organized a panel of talks on December 7, 2001 as part of the New York State Society of Anesthesiologists Post Graduate Assembly (see Attachment C) and for the Society for Ambulatory Anesthesia in May, 2002 (see Attachment D). Educational programs have also been organized for the 2003 annual meeting of the Society for Ambulatory Anesthesia and the Society of Cardiovascular Anesthesiologists (see Attachment E). All of the above mentioned societies are 501(c)(3) organizations. Speakers for these talks are recruited from the membership of SAGA or are non-member experts in their fields as it relates to the perioperative care of older patients. For programs provided by SAGA to other societies, meeting attendees pay an attendance fee as determined by the sponsoring organization. To date, the educational program of SAGA's annual meeting has been free of charge to anyone interested, society members and non-members alike. This may change in the future. Planning and providing educational programs represents 70% of SAGA's activities to date, and will likely represent the majority of activity in the future.

The society (SAGA) held its first business meeting on October 12, 2001 and will likely continue to do so on an annual basis. Typical activities at the annual meeting include election of officers, reports of society activities (such as the above educational programs provided in conjunction with other societies), treasurer's report, reports on membership and discussing future plans. The running of the society has been primarily performed by its officers (President, President-Elect, Secretary, Treasurer and Board of Directors) and represents 20% of the overall activity of the society. This includes such activities as gathering information about companies that provide assistance with website development, as the society hopes to establish a website at some time in the future.

The society has also worked to publicize itself, recruit new members and solicit corporate sponsorship (see Part II, item 3). The members feel strongly that the care of the elderly involves a high proportion of practicing anesthesiologists and that the body of knowledge with respect to geriatric anesthesia is important and useful information. A larger membership enhances credibility, and more money provides more educational options (e.g. website). Although important, these activities represent only 10% of the SAGA's current activities.

Future directions of the society include formation of a website and a newsletter to disseminate educational documents and information about the society and its activities. Neither of these endeavors will permit paid advertising nor will product sales be allowed. SAGA expects to continue to expand its educational programs through involvement with additional professional societies. Members of SAGA have also been involved with educational programs with societies outside of anesthesia, such as with the American Geriatrics Society. To date that involvement has not been under the auspices of SAGA, but could become so in the future.

2 What are or will be the organization's sources of financial support? List in order of size.
   a. Membership dues
   b. Charitable donations from individuals, non-profit organizations or corporate benefactors
   c. Meeting attendance fees

3 Describe the organization's fundraising program, both actual and planned, and explain to what extent it has been put into effect. Include details of fundraising activities such as selective mailings, formation of fundraising committees, use of volunteers or professional fundraisers, etc. Attach representative copies of solicitations for financial support.

No fundraising activities exist or are planned other than membership recruitment and solicitations to medical corporations for financial support (see sample in Attachment F).

   ☑ Yes  ☐ No
   If you answer “Yes,” do not answer questions on lines 2 through 6 below.

2  If one of the exceptions to the 15-month filing requirement shown below applies, check the appropriate box and proceed to question 7.
   Exceptions—You are not required to file an exemption application within 15 months if the organization:

As noted on the brochure, the production of this brochure was supported by Arrow International. SAGA was not the official sponsoring organization for this educational program, the Mount Sinai School of Medicine was. As such, neither the cost of the brochure, nor the grant from Arrow, passed through SAGA’s books. The same is true for the brochures for the other societies for which SAGA has organized educational

Dear,

The elderly present for surgery 2.5 times more frequently than younger patients, and suffer a much higher rate of serious complications. With the goal of improved care for elderly patients fostered by education of practitioners and research, a group of anesthesiologists recently formed the Society for the Advancement of Geriatric Anesthesia (SAGA) in October, 2000. Membership includes virtually every anesthesiologist in the US with long-established activity and influence in geriatric anesthesia. We further intend to encourage membership from individuals of other specialties to exchange information and ideas. We believe that perioperative outcome will not improve unless all involved caregivers share the same concerns and approach.

The society hopes to be innovative in many ways. In order to reduce meeting costs and increase SAGA's exposure, we are joining with other societies to provide educational programs at their annual meetings. The Society for Ambulatory Anesthesia and the New York Post Graduate Assembly have already agreed to such an arrangement, and the Society of Cardiovascular Anesthesiologists and the American Society of Regional Anesthesia and Pain Management have expressed interest. SAGA also plans to have an active website for the dissemination of educational material along with society news.

A problem common to all fledgling societies is that of small size and consequent limited financing if funded through membership alone. Our greatest cost would be a newsletter that would ideally be distributed extensively for publicity purposes. For example, a four page newsletter sent to the entire ASA membership would cost over $17,000. Website costs could easily run from $1,500-$4,000 annually, depending on the level of service.

We hope that you will consider becoming a Founding Patron of SAGA with a one-time donation of $5,000. , of course, would be recognized as a Founding Patron on our newsletters and website for a three year period. If you would prefer a greater or lesser level of involvement, I would be delighted to discuss such options with you. Clearly any level of support would be appreciated.

Thank you very much for considering our request. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

G. Alec Rooke, MD, PhD

...Geriatric Anesthesia: Society for the Advancement of Geriatric Anesthesia Is New ‘Kid’ on the Block

G. Alec Rooke, M.D., Ph.D., President
Society for the Advancement of Geriatric Anesthesia

At the ASA Annual Meeting last October in San Francisco, approximately 20 ASA members met to form a society dedicated to improving the perioperative care of the elderly patient. I am happy to report that the Society for the Advancement of Geriatric Anesthesia (SAGA) is now a functioning society. Between the meeting and subsequent discussions, a number of formative details relating to the new society have been resolved.

The goals of the society, as delineated in the bylaws, are to enhance and improve all aspects of the perioperative care of geriatric patients, to foster the education of both residents in training and practitioners of anesthesiology, and to encourage research on the care of the elderly patient coming to surgery. Although at present the emphasis is on the anesthetic care of the geriatric patient, it is recognized that successful perioperative outcome requires appropriately tailored care from all the participating caregivers. Medical professionals from any field are therefore encouraged to join SAGA.

Officers were elected in San Francisco with G. Alec Rooke, M.D., Ph.D., Shoreline, Washington, chosen as President; Jeffrey H. Silverstein, M.D., Ph.D., West Nyack, New Jersey, President-Elect; Terri G. Monk, M.D., Gainesville, Florida, Secretary; and Sheila R. Barnett, M.D., Newton, Massachusetts, Treasurer. Terms are for two years. Six at-large members of the board will eventually be elected to staggered two-year terms with the first three to be chosen at the 2001 Annual Meeting in New Orleans.

In addition to meeting on an annual basis (see page 30 for details), SAGA also is organizing educational programs at the annual meetings of other societies. This strategy is based on the desire to reach many more anesthesiologists than the current membership of SAGA. The members of most anesthesiology societies provide care for elderly patients, and that trend will only continue due to U.S. population demographics. Forming affiliations with other societies should enhance SAGA’s educational mission as well as provide useful programs for the other societies. An additional goal is to publicize SAGA in the anesthesiology community in the hope of increasing membership.

Educational Programs
To date, SAGA has approached several societies about annual meeting affiliation. A breakfast panel will be sponsored at the New York State Society of Anesthesiologists Postgraduate Assembly (PGA) meeting. The panel will be held Friday, December 7, 2001, from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Bruce Vladeck, M.D., Director of the Institute for Medical Practice at Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, will speak on Medicare policy and perioperative outcomes. Elizabeth Clark, M.D., a geriatrician at Mount Sinai School of Medicine, will speak on perioperative care of the elderly. Dr. Rooke will speak on the geriatric cardiovascular system. Dr. Silverstein, who organized the panel, will discuss the effects of anesthesia on postoperative brain function. On the afternoon of December 10 at the PGA, there will be another panel on geriatric anesthesia. Although not sponsored by SAGA, Dr. Monk has organized a panel on the special needs of the elderly surgical patient. Speakers include Dr. Silverstein, who will present the global picture on the perioperative care of the elderly; Howard S. Smith, M.D., Boston, Massachusetts, who will discuss perioperative pain control; Diane E. Meier, M.D., a geriatrician and ethicist at Mount Sinai who will discuss palliative care; and Dr. Monk, who will discuss postoperative cognitive dysfunction.

The Society for Ambulatory Anesthesia (SAMBA) also has graciously offered SAGA the opportunity to provide a panel at the SAMBA Annual Meeting in May 2002. Dr. Monk will moderate the panel with talks tentatively planned on the outpatient anesthesia implications of the aging process (Stan Muravchick, M.D., Ph.D.), preoperative assessment of the geriatric outpatient (Lee A. Fleisher, M.D.) and the use of peripheral nerve blocks in geriatric outpatients (F. Kayser Enneking, M.D.). SAGA has also submitted a proposal for the 2003 SAMBA meeting.

G. Alec Rooke, M.D., Ph.D., is Professor of Anesthesiology, University of Washington and the Veterans Affairs Puget Sound Health Care System, Seattle, Washington.
Call for a New ‘Residents’ Review’ Editor

The ASA Resident Component Governing Council announces the immediate opening for the position of Editor of the “Residents’ Review” section of the ASA NEWSLETTER. The term of office is two years, and the chair of the Resident Component Governing Council will appoint the position after the ASA Annual Meeting in October 2001.

ASA has made a strong commitment to encourage resident involvement in ASA, and the “Residents’ Review” section of the NEWSLETTER is an opportunity for residents to voice their concerns, ideas and suggestions to the greater community of anesthesiologists. The editor position is an excellent platform by which a resident with two years remaining in training can influence resident involvement in ASA.

The editor will attend the meetings of the Resident Component Governing Council at the semi-annual meetings of the ASA Board of Directors in Chicago, Illinois, for which approved expenses are reimbursed by ASA. The editor shall be mainly responsible for solicitation of authors for appropriate articles for the “Residents’ Review” column, editing the submissions, collecting the applicable author information and forwarding the submission to the ASA NEWSLETTER in a timely manner.

Residents interested in the editorship should send their application to the ASA Executive Office as soon as possible. Applications should include a cover letter describing the resident’s interest in the position, a current curriculum vitae and the name and address of the resident’s training program director. Prior editorial or writing experience is preferred but not required.

Please mail your applications to Ronald A. Bruns, Director of Administrative Affairs, ASA Executive Office, 520 N. Northwest Highway, Park Ridge, IL 60068-2573.

If you have any questions or need further information, please feel free to contact Carlos L. Moreno, M.D., Chair-Elect of the ASA Resident Component Governing Council, 394 Village Green Blvd., #204, Ann Arbor, MI 48105; e-mail: <clmoreno@umich.edu>.

Annual Meeting

The next annual meeting of SAGA will occur in conjunction with the ASA Annual Meeting this fall in New Orleans. The meeting will take place at 7 p.m. Friday, October 12, 2001, in La Galeries 2 and 3 at the Marriott Hotel. In addition to a business meeting where the progress of the society will be discussed and at-large board members will be elected, we will have an invited speaker. Jeffrey W. Dwyer, Ph.D., will speak on “The Future Is Aging: Demographic, Policy and Clinical Implications.” Dr. Dwyer is Professor and Director of the Division of Aging in the Department of Health Policy and Epidemiology at the University of Florida-Gainesville. His areas of expertise include long-term care, health services research and the health care needs and problems of older, disadvantaged populations. There will be no charge for attending the meeting.

Future Plans for Web Site

At present, there is no SAGA Web site; however, one is in the planning stages.

Anyone interested in learning more about SAGA, joining the Society or attending the October 12 meeting is encouraged to contact me at <crooke@washington.edu> or by mail at S-112-ANES, VAP-SHCS, 1660 S. Columbian Way, Seattle, WA 98108.
